REMNANT

WEDNESDAY NEXT, NOVEMBER 21,

The Day We Set for Our Second Remnant Day This Season.

We have a large accumulation of different lengths of most every variety of goods throughout our store. If you can find what you want, it will pay you well to invest on this day, even if you cannot use the goods at present, but have to lay them aside for future use, as they are to be MARKED SO LOW that seeing them you can hardly resist the temptation to buy, even if not needed.

Wednesday Next is the Only Day They Will Be Offered For Sale.

We do not wish to be continually bothered with them; hence, have marked them at ridiculously low prices, in order to close them all out on this day.

Some TWO THOUSAND REMNANTS will be strewn over several counters on WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21st.

MORELUMNE HILL, November 18th.—Charles E.
Bolton was brought before the Superior Court of this county yesterday, Hon. C. V. Gottschalk presiding, for arriginment. After the information had been read to him by the Clerk he entered a piea of guilty, and waived time for pronouncing judgment.
Before sentence was passed Bolton made a statement to the Court. He denied being "Black Bart," and declared that this was his first, as it should be his last offense arginst the law. He said that cirhis last, offense against the law. He said that circumstances over which he had no control had urged him to the commission of the crime, and that he had yielded to temptation after severe struggles. He implored the mercy of the Court. The Court, after stating to the prisoner the crime of which he stood said convicted and giving him, a ten ways of admonition, sentenced him to six years' imprison-ment at San Quentin. Tulare County Teachers' Institute. Visalia, November 18th.—The Teachers' Institute of Tulare county, just closed, was the best attended by the teachers of any ever held. Building Burned by Tramps. PETALUMA, November 18th.—A large building at Bloomfield, oweed by J. P. Stanty, formerly known as Ruffer's Hotel, was destroyed by fire about 1 A. M. Saturday. Mr. Stanty and family, who resided in the rear of the house, were absent at the time. The building is supposed to have been set on fire by tramps who called at the house just prior to Mrs. Stanty's departure, and were refused a night's lodging. The property was valued at about $2,500. The building was rather old, and was built at a probable cost of $7,000; insured for $1,000.

THE REASONS STATED

By the Governor for Not Calling an Fxtra Session of the Legislature.

The fact that the Governor has decided not to call an extra session has already been published, but the reasons upon which he based the decision, stated in his letter to Dr. Grattan, Chairman of the State Grange, and now made public, are of interest. His letter is quite lengthy, but the main points are as follows: "At the time of the interview," says the Governor, "we went over the whole ground, and I promised to give my views in writing. I believe I have given the subject of a special session of the Legislature as much serious thought as any man. I have examined the subject in all its phases. Since the first note of dissatisfaction arose in regard to the delay of the Board of Railroad Commissioners in establishing rates of charges for the transportation of passengers and freight, this subject has been constantly on my mind.' The Governor then considers the meaning of the provision of the Constitution empowering him to convene the Legislature in extraordinary session, and says :

"The failure of the State to collect sufficient revenue to support the Government would also, in my opinion, be an occasion sufficiently extraordinary to justify the Executive in convening the Legislature to provide, either by law or constitutional amendment the revenue required.

"I entirely agree with your committee that every candidate who makes promises or pledgee prior to election should be held to the strictest accountability for their fulfillment. Every officer who violates or fails to keep a pledge or promise given be-fore the election should be punished; but it appears to me that the punishment should be visited upon him by his constituents, by public opinion and by social and

But the question arises, Before what tribunal shall they be tried? Is the offender to have the benefit of trial by Court or jury, or shall he be impeached? The statutes already fully provide means for the removal from office of all persons who are guilty of official misconduct, either by trial before a Court or jury, or by impeachment. They also provide for the removal of certain officers for certain causes by other methods of pro-schedules (such as they are) adopted by the Railroad Commissioners, the necessity for asking the Legislature to act upon that subject has not yet arisen.

"As to amendments to the Constitution, the next general election takes place a year have amendments submitted. "As to the delinquent taxes of the railroad companies, the Circuit Court has decided against the State. It is expected that a test case will be tried and determined at the present term of the Supreme Court. I cannot understand how the Legislature could act intelligently on the subject until the Supreme Court is heard from. Suppose the Legislature be convened while the case is pending, and submit an amendment changing the method of assessment of railroad property; that the people should afterward, at an election called for that purpose, ratify such amend-ment; and then, after all this had been done, the Supreme Court should decide that our present Constitution and tax laws are good, and the railroad companies are

We repeat that there is no legal restriction concerning disposal of the dead in California that prevents cremation. The Health Officer can issue his permit for burial of the ashes as well as for the burial of the entire body, and prior to burial it is the concern of the relatives as to how the body shall be prepared for the grave. " CHRISTIAN PEOPLE." The Hebrew objects to the phraseology of the Governor's proclamation for thanksgiving. It says: "Governor Stoneman wants us to give thanks as 'an enlightened and Christian people.' He thus adds his name to the list of Governors who have committed the error of excluding large sections of the community from the supposed scope of their proglamations.' This is captious criticism. "Christian people" is used in a non-religious sense, of course. It has a meaning now reaching beyond the narrow limits of its derivation. When we speak of a Christian people nowadays, it is not to be understood to mean the believers alone in the divine origin of Christ, but a people whose advanced civilization is characterized by a tolerance guaranteeing, so far as the State is concerned, that there shall be made no distinction because of religious faith. The use of the word "Christian" might have been omitted from the proclamation without detracting from its force, but its introduction gives no warrant for the long criticism of the Hebrew. Israelites and free thinkers, non-believers in the doctrines of the Christian Church, and all others are included, when, in a general sense, the term "Christian people" is used. We have far more respect for the wording of the proclamation than for the oversensitiveness that prompts the exception taken to it. There might be embarrassment, it is true, on the part of a Rabbi, if he felt it a duty to read the proclamation in his synagogue, but we apprehend that none of the scholars that fill that office in the Hebraic Church will feel bound to read it, or that they will construe the term as

The Governor has declined to accede to the demands of the extra session petitioners, and refuses to convene the Legislature. It has been evident from the outset that the cry for an extra session had no reason in it. It would not even have aided the personal ambition of the political aspirants, whose selfishness is at the botcitement on the subject; in fact, it would who are evidently moving in a sphere too have been an extinguisher to the hopes of narrow for the enlightenment of this age, all that class, and for this one reason there have refused the "First Cremation So. is some cause for regret that the session ciety " of that city the privilege of prac- will not be called. Four hundred malcontents then approached Superintendent Stockbridge, of the Ludington mine, and requested an answer to their demand. He refused to yield. Stockbridge was then thrown down, kicked and knocked around generally, during which cries of "Kill him, hang him," etc., were freely uttered. As soon as he recovered himself, he told the men they could have anything they wanted; that they might all go back to work, and consider their day's work done at any reasonable hour. He was then allowed to depart. The mob then started in search of Superintendent Cady, of the Chapin mine, an offense to those who worship according snown on the public records, exclusive of the onethird owed by the State of West Virginia. The right to vote had been gradually curtailed by the whipping-post, disqualification and capitation tax laws, passed in violation of the conditions to which the State had solemnly pledged herself when readmitted to represenation in Congress, until free suffrage was a mockery in Virginia. The school funds had been diverted from their proper use in like violation of the fundamental conditions of readmission. The Bourbons had kept the State in an attitude of sullenness and narrow adherence to defeated and discarded notions as to State sovereignty and national obligations, most injurious to her interests, begetting distrust, excluding capital and immigration, and repressing enterprise and development. The righting of these wrongs, the correction of these evils, and resistance to the old Bourbon spirit of caste, intolerance and prescription which belonged to a former period—these were the grand objects which had brought together the great majority of our people without regard to race or previous condition of party servitude. Our enemies hated and bitterly opposed each one of these objects."

Mahone then calls attention to the economy under

one of these objects."

Mahone then calls attention to the economy under the Readjester government, giving the facts and figures to show the results. Since the accession to power of the Readjusters, 726 miles of railway have been built; our principal port has become the sechen built in ngures to show the results. Since the accession to power of the Readjusters, 726 miles of railway have been built; our principal port has become the second cotton port in the country, and its exports have increased 83 per cent.; a city has sprung up in our midst, and grown from 5,000 to 50,000; our total values on personal property have increased over 18 per cent.; our heenses tax over 9 per cent.; capital has sought investment here; mines have been considered and capital and labor smooned up have been ed, and capital and labor among us have be opened, and capital and latest among us have be aroused to greater activity than ever before; commercial relations were never more satisfact than they now are at any time since the format of the Constitution; the voice of Virginia has been heard in both houses of Congress in support of heard in both houses of Congress in support of progress, order and rightful national authority, and for the first time since the war she has been treated with the same consideration as New York or Massachusetts; sectionalism has disappeared.

The recent election, Mahone says, was not a true and fair expression of the people's will, being dragged at this late day under the domination of bloodshed and violence not a whit less bloody nor bloodshed and violence not a writt less bloody no less brutal than those which flourished in the palmiest days of the Ku-klux and White Leagues.

Speaking of the Danville riot, Mahone says: How many were killed no one knows, and no one will probably learn the truth, for the condition of thing is such that the truth cannot be learned. That they were shot in the backs like dogs while running away; that no pistol shot was fired by a black man; that no white man was injured, save by his own friends; that, for days the poor victims were found dead in alleys and warehouses, and under houses, like poisoned rats that had crawled away to die; that the negroes fled to the woods, to the State of North Carolina, to the four winds of heaven—these are a few of the facts of this bloody, wholesale murder, which was telegraphed far and near by the Bourbons as an insolent uprising of the blacks against the whites.

Mahone then shows where the Republican losses occurred, where the negroes were largely is such that the truth cannot be learned. That the ccurred, where the negroes were largel on the ascendant, and adds: To me, as in the ascendant, and aids: 10 me, as a Virginian, a former slave-owner and ex Confederate, the saddest feature of this reign o terror is the suff-ring it has inflicted upon the negroes here. This unfortunate people have had a fate as black as their skins Now when they act on their rights, voluntarily ac-corded to them, they are shot down like dogs, for party purposes, by the beneficiaries of their toil for centuries. Already the voice of the nation is upifted against this awful outbreak in a State here

Mahone argues from these facts that the fight sgainst Bourbonism must go on, that nationalism, human rights, liberty, peace, manhood and republican government must succeed.

France and China. November 18th. - In an interview, Marthe situation between France and China had become very critical, owing to the proceedings of the French Government, the repeated votes in the Chinese and French troops. Many well-armed Chinese and French troops. Many well-armed Chinese regulars have crossed the frontier and encamped at Baoninh, where they are closely watching the movements of the French, notwithstanding the presence of the French fleet. Three army corps of 10,000 men each, and equipped in European fashion, can at very short notice march by three different routes against the French. Among the Chinese troops are many European and American engineers. The French may be able to throw a few bombshells into Canton, but it will be difficult for their fleet to approach the place, as the water is too shallow. approach the place, as the water is too shallow. France must first give warning, if she contemplates a hostile demonstration, to the merchant vessels of all nations there. If the Canton mandarins are energetic, the natives will fight well, and the French will find them worthy foemen. China is receiving encouragement and offers of material help from all sides. I have received no communication from the French Government since my last arrival in Paris. I shall return to Folkestone almost immediately.

Concluding, he said: "China ardently desires peace, and deplores that the situation daily becomes more aggravated. She will recognize, however remore aggravated. She will recognize, however repeace, and deplores that the situation daily becomes more aggravated. She will recognize, however regretfully, accomplished facts, and leave to France the towns and forts captured south of Red river. Washington, November 17th.—Justice Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, in a dissenting opinion in the civil rights cases, says: "The opinion in these cases proceeds upon grounds entirely too narrow and artificial. The substances and spirit of the recent amendments to the Constitution have been sacrificed by subtle and ingenious verbal criticism. The constitutional provisions, adopted in the interest ef liberty and for the purpose of securing through national legislation, if need be, rights inherent in a state of freedom and belonging to American citizenship, have been so construed as to defeat the ends the people desired to accomplish, which they attempted to accomplish and which they supposed they had accomplished by changes in their fundamental law. The Court has departed from the familiar rule requiring in interpretation of constitutional provisions that full extent be given to the intent with which they were adopted. The power conferred by the thirteenth amendment does not rest on implication or inference. The power te inforce it by appropriate legislation was expressly granted. Friends of General Sheridan say he is not altogether happy in his new position in command of the army, and is becoming restive under the mode of transacting business at the War Department. He is practically nothing more than a clerk to Secretary Lincoln, although consulted on many matters and permitted to look after routine and subordinate things connected with the management of the army. It is only a question of time when he will become thoroughly discontented, and there will be an outbreak between him and Lincoln.

CHANGED DAILY FOR THE RED HOUSE.

OUR BOOT AND SHOE DEPARTMENT!

No one branch of our business receives more care in the buying. We have carefully studied the wants of the people of this Coast, and selected for our regular lines only such qualities as we could with confidence fully warrant. Our BOOT AND SHOE TRADE has grown rapidly in the past five years, and to-day we, without doubt, command the largest sale in the city. Of one Boot we use over $50 cases yearly. We speak of our RED HOUSE KIP, manufactured to our order in Boston. Over onehalf of our mammoth stock of Boots and Shoes are made expressly for us, our brand (Red House) placed upon them, and all such goods we fully warrant, and our warrant shall be good in all cases. This class of goods we take pleasure in selling and recommending. There is certainly more economy in buying these goods than cheaper work, Still, many want low-priced goods, and to suit all we carry in stock heavy lines of cheaper work. We aim to buy no trash, but to have our cheap grades all that can be expected, and even more. If we offer a Lady's Kid Fox Shoe for $1, we want to show just as good a shoe as it is possible to procure and sell in a legitimate business at the dollar. We carry a great variety of goods for Ladies, Misses and Children, Men and Boys. We have 63 different styles and price Shoes in Misses' and Children's from one Eastern house alone. We quote prices on only a few, and invite those at a distance to send for our DESCRIPTIVE PRICE LIST, which we mail free.
